

- (r) - road race
- (t) - outdoor track race
- (i) - indoor track race
- @ - intermediate time provided in the official results, en route to a longer distance (completed)
- # - intermediate time provided in the official results, en route to a longer distance (not completed)
- & - noteworthy performance between points that do not include the start, if the performance can be exactly calculated from information provided in the official results
(Times marked # and & appear in “other noteworthy performances” after the main list)
- (A) - elevation higher than 1000m (the WA designation for an “altitude” venue)
- m - result in a mixed race. The first number indicates placing within gender, the second number indicates overall placing. One number only indicates that no athletes of the other gender were ahead. (ie 1/4m = gender winner, fourth overall; 1m = overall winner)
- pz(xx) - includes time (in seconds) in the Penalty Zone under WA rule TR54.7.3
- *, **, +, ++, ! - special circumstances explained in notes below each list
- ?, ?? - information insufficient, to be confirmed, or found in a secondary source. May be placed in “other noteworthy performances” until clarified

This 2022 list marks the 33rd year since the rankings were first produced. They have appeared annually since 1991. The AC statisticians in the 1980s realized that they were not documenting race walking with the same care they brought to the other events. Since many race walks are held away from "mainstream" competitions, our results were often missed or inadequately reported.

The leading statisticians of that era, like Jurgen Wittenburg, Tom MacWilliam and the great Cecil Smith, strove to clearly and eloquently "tell the story of the sport in numbers". They reflected, and at times led, the standards of the Association of Track and Field Statisticians (ATFS), which started in 1950 and which still provides the IAAF (now WA - World Athletics) with its own "story in numbers".

They therefore asked for help from race walk specialists. The collaboration resulted in Canadian statistics of uncommonly high quality, published in Athletics Magazine and AC's own "stats annual" for a number of years. This is the reason for our present "reporting standards". All other events were published in lists that recorded the 25 best athletes. The reporting standards for race walking enabled us to reflect an equivalent level. Those standards have remained relatively consistent since.

The advent of “computerized everything” should make compilation easier. Properly used, it does. But nothing substitutes for knowledgeable research and well-tested standards of quality, based above all in the sport’s rules. Without that care, the very process can become inadequate. Generic programs – or those who operate them – can so easily prioritize convenience or flamboyance over the elegant simplicity of the sport’s rules and practices.

Proper results relive the performances as the athletes first lived them. Recording their collective experiences is our small contribution to our sport's history. Let us not just push buttons and assume our work is done; let us do the work before we push the buttons! In so doing, we continue the heritage, of the Smiths, the MacWilliams, the Wittenburgs and their like, that these rankings attempt to honour.
